SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1898

It has been less than two years since the law making life-imprisonment instead of death the penalty for murder in Colorado went into effect and yet agitation has already begun looking to a revival of the death penalty. It is asserted by those who wish a re-establishment of the gallows that the life-imprisonment law has resulted in an epidemic of crime.

Mr. John S. Williams, a prominent promoter of manufacturing enterprises in the South, says:
"People who rail against the money power seem to forget the money power is more deeply interin the prosperity of the country than anybody else can be." We don't believe that men who have never felt the sting of poverty, or the lack of prosperity, can feel the want of it as much as those who have suffered from these causes. The misconception of capitalists is in this, that they consider their own prosperity as that of the "whole country." When they can double their wealth in a year or two they believe the "whole country" prosperous. The color of the landscape depends upon the color of the spectacles through which it is seen.—Farm and Ranch.

TOWN BUILDERS.

It is too well known to need repetition that a town to become of any importance first needs the spirit of harmony and unity. This is a fact too well known to need further commend. Along with all of this a town must have citizens; not inhabitants but citizens in the highest sense of the word, and without them a town never amounts to much in a social, business or in any other way. If you want to become a true citizen, study the common interest, not yours only. Whenever a man gets to thinking that he is the only pebble on the beach and that all the interests of the town are centred in him, he then becomes an inhabitant only. If you will look up the difference in the usage of the words in the book of books, the Bible, you will see a vast difference in speaking of a citizen and an inhabitant.—Exchange.

American readers are often amused at the oddity of Chinese names. Undoubtedly Li Hung Chang, Li Po Tai and Ghy Lung look very funny to our eyes, and we are apt to think that they are arranged in the same order and have the same significance as given names and surnames among ourselves—which is not not case.
Perhaps it is only the way that we print their names that arouses our mirth; the Chinese themselves do not print them so. Suppose some of our names were printed thus:
Sha Fter, Al Ger, Mack In Ley, Ah Sin itself does not look more peculiar.—New York Times.

An old newspaper clipping which had evidently been carefully treasured by the late Judge J. Wickham of the superior court of Pennsylvania, was found in his pocketbook when he died, not long ago. It reads as follows: "Here is what Abraham Lincoln says of law: 'Let reverence of law be breathed by every mother to the lisping babe that prattles in her lap; let it be taught in the schools, seminaries and colleges; let it be written in primer, spelling books and almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpits and proclaimed in legislative halls, and enforced in courts of justice; in short, let it become the political religion of the nation.'"

THE QUARANTINE ON TEXAS FEVER CATTLE.

Restrictions Will Be Put In Force Hereafter In January Instead of In Later Months.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Restrictions imposed by operations of the Federal quarantine line, beyond which cattle were not allowed to be shipped north, ceased on last Thursday. The establishment of this line or boundary annually is made necessary by the existence of Texas fever infection among cattle, but as there is no danger of it spreading north in cold weather, restrictions are usually removed about this time of the year. New regulations having the same object in view, however, are soon to be prepared by the agricultural department officials and will probably be put into effect on the first of January. In former years the department has put these regulations in force in February and March, but experienced demonstrated the necessity of advancing the date to about the first of the year. Cattle sent north after that time, the agricultural officials say, may carry contagion, which failing to mature during the period of cold weather succeeding, will manifest itself in the warm spring season and thus spread the disease.

Dr. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, says the cattle industry of the country is in a prosperous condition, due partly to a falling off of the supply and an increase of exports.

TRAIN ROBBER KILLED.

He Is Shot to Death by an Express Messenger in California.

San Bernardino, Cal., Nov. 19.—The westbound overland passenger train was held up by four robbers about 1 o'clock this morning between Daggett and Barstow. Express Messenger Hutchinson drove them off with buckshot and the train pulled out for Los Angeles.

At Barstow trainmen sent a posse back to the scene of the holdup where the body of one of the robbers was found perforated with shot.

Fred Blakesley, a helper, got on the train at Daggett, fired at two of the robbers and they jumped from the engine.

There were four robbers, but only two of them succeeded in getting on the train. They were evidently amateurs.
The dead robber is a young man.
